

Case-Based Reasoning

Case-based reasoning (CBR) is an AI approach that addresses new problems or situations by using similar previous experiences, either directly or by adaptation to the new context. This special track is intended to gather AI researchers and practitioners with an interest in CBR to present and discuss developments in CBR theory and application.